Colour is one of the simplest ways to shape how people feel in a space. A brighter, playful tone brings energy into a room, it gets people talking. A deeper, richer tone feels more considered, and tends to slow people down, draw them in rather than switch them on. Both are doing the same job in the end, using colour to bring people together, just in different ways.

At Harrows, We finish every steel frame locally, in a range built for how commercial spaces actually get used. Powder coat gives us that flexibility without giving up durability. It holds up to the wear of a busy hospitality or workplace fit-out, and it keeps its colour and finish over time.

Because colour reads differently depending on light, surrounding materials and the shape of the piece it's on, we'd always recommend viewing a physical sample before locking anything in.

Powder-coated surfaces are best cleaned with a soft, damp cloth and mild detergent. Avoid abrasive cleaners, scouring pads and harsh chemicals, as these may damage the finish.

Life is built on the interaction of people. We create thoughtfully crafted furniture that inspires meaningful interaction.
